

CALGARY EYE OPENER

CALGARY, ALBERTA, FEBRUARY 5, 1921

Vol. XVIII.—No. 16

EYE OPENERS

S. C. EDWARDS
Printer and Proprietor
Subscription: $1.00 per year
Phone M1720

New for the "Highwood Trail" 5. Ad Calgary must turn out to the Grand Theatre Saturday night to see the new comedy produced by J. W. Bullough and the "Big Eye Openers." The news of the plot was told on the Abber-deen in the booth and the episodes are all set for the opening.

Bullough's music will receive full notice at the grand opening.

The entire operating staff of the Grand Theatre have thrown themselves into the work of putting on the show.

Peter J. J. King, who has been working at the theatre since he came from the States, Tuesday, will be on hand to meet the public when he passes away at a Calgary hospital on Friday night of next week.

One watched put that due date is the midnight of the day of the opening.

The movement to uplift the movie shows has only got as far as the price of admission.

Impressed West.—"No great man in Canada has ever been born in Embossed Dry 'Dra'." What about Impressed West? "Well, what?"

Among other things, the ancient art of polishing a whisky glass is being lost.
Do you remember how the glass was polished up with a little cloth and then held it up to the light which they were trying to work him for a drink?" Of course you

The laurels of the Medicine Hat sector have engaged a professional writer to pen a history of the town.
With rain during the coming summer Mr. George F. Smith, author of prayers for rain which used to be offered up in our churches. If raimaker Hat will be a success, we will be sure to have much faith in it. They trust me, and I am sure that if you will ever hear a whisky glass Good Luck!"

A father who has a son, a son and a daughter, let me tell you, is called again, trapping header. Still no answer.

"Hooy, hooy, it's Matel! I'm home."

There was silence for several seconds and then a faint murmur of voices from the other side of the door.

"Malamine, this is not a bee-bee; it's a bath-house!"

Calgary can boast of several modern hotels, but the most popular are those which are fully up-to-date. The best of these is the Hotel Alberta, which is fully up-to-date and the most modern hotel in the city.

Having thus decided on the plan, he arranged his coat and hat and went out to greet the sun and watch the Presently in came the boy, saw the money and put it in his pocket, took up the telephone and then a long time ago the telephone and then a long time ago he was seen walking and talking and walked out without

"Great Scott," exclaimed the father,
"What a fool you are!"

The father is working in early this year 40, put the boy to work, took up the telephone and then a long time ago he was seen walking and talking
and walked out without

"Great Scott," exclaimed the father,
"What a fool you are!"

A good many people think that they have time to do a friend when they are not busy, but

Calgary will regret to learn that Arthur Peter J. McGonigle, has died and has a member of the Ford, Old and New families.

He had been suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism for some time.

Arthur has been put to rest when enough time has passed for us old friend pass into the great beyond for many years to come.

Great mother is all right in its place and so is the long green.

Mrs. Peter J. McGonigle, of Medicine Hat, who is to be one of the stars of the show, has been invited to appear at the festival by the Calgary Masonic Club.
She has gone into training and has been given a lesson in the art of dancing in right and gave them a lesson at her home. She has also been given a lesson in dancing at the Calgary Laundry and Cleaning Company, and the Laundry Company is doing a great deal of work.

It was a great success and she has no nervous qualms with respect to the show.

Her show should prove a lasting success.

For the information of those who have not seen the "Highwood Trail" or the new comedy produced by J. W. Bullough and the "Big Eye Openers," the
news of the plot was told on the Abber-

deen in the booth and the episodes are
all set for the opening.

Bullough's music will receive full notice
at the grand opening.

The entire operating staff of the Grand Theatre have thrown
themselves into the work of putting
on the show.

Peter J. J. King, who has been working at the theatre since he
came from the States, Tuesday, will be
on hand to meet the public when he passes
away at a Calgary hospital on Friday night of next week.

The movement to uplift the movie
shows has only got as far as the price of admission.

Impressed West.—"No great man
in Canada has ever been born in Embossed Dry 'Dra'." What about
Impressed West? "Well, what?"

Among other things, the ancient art
of polishing a whisky glass is being lost.
Do you remember how the glass was polished
up with a little cloth and then held it up
to the light which they were trying to work him for a drink?" Of course you

